Welcome to the Siemens HiPath Xpressions self-paced training for the University of Virginia. If you have not used PhoneMail in the past, this course provides you with the information you need to be a successful HiPath Xpressions user.

If you were a PhoneMail user, you can use the course menu to navigate to the subjects you want to learn more about. This will enable you to become familiar with the PhoneMail to HiPath Xpressions differences, and learn how to use the advanced HiPath Xpressions features.

Once you have completed the lessons in a module, you will automatically continue to the next module. To navigate between modules and lessons, use the menu on the left side of the screen. To begin, click the title of the first module, HiPath Xpressions Introduction. Then click the first lesson, HiPath Xpressions Overview.

This course requires Flash Player Version 6 or higher. If you can view the animation to the right, then you have the correct version already installed. If you need to install the Flash Player, you can download it by clicking the button below.
